

Non-Disclosure Agreement

The undersigned parties are presently involved in discussions, business arrangements or work (engagement) which involve sharing or access to proprietary or confidential information.

This agreement confirms that:

1. Any information, received during the discussions or engagement which was not known to the undersigned prior to the time disclosed and is not otherwise publicly available, shall be held confidential to the respective undersigned and shall not be used or disclosed to anyone other than representatives of the undersigned on a 'need-to-know' basis.
2. The undersigned will not keep, make or use any further copies or summaries of any oral or written material or other information available to the undersigned, except as is necessary to the engagement involved. The undersigned will return all such material, copies or summaries to the disclosing party upon request.
3. If engagement is commissioned CobaltNiche remains the author and proprietor of all designs, documents, knowledge, drawings and all other intellectual property provided by CobaltNiche until:
 - An agreement is entered into between the parties to provide on-going design services
 - Full payment of all CobaltNiche accounts is made for any such provided services
